b. On 13 February 1986, [REDACTED] attended the first meeting of a subcommittee (comprised of representatives from Defense Communications Agency, Defense Communications Engineering Command, Defense Intelligence Agency, Intelligence Community Staff and Central Intelligence Agency) established to study how to improve data base survivability. The meeting was a comedy of errors as: a) the chairman was preoccupied with preparation for an unscheduled TDY and departed the building after making the initial introductions, b) three of the organizations who are members of the subcommittee were not represented at the meeting, and c) most of the attendees were unaware of the mission of the subcommittee, and were not enlightened by this meeting. A second meeting is scheduled for 20 February.
